

Art sales help preserve local collection

Art dealer J. Gilbert Johnston rallied a crowd during his presentation, "Art Treasures of Natural History: Connoisseurship and Preservation" July 12 at Preservation Dallas. Afterwards, guests participated in his collection sale and viewed his art exhibit. The collection includes rare, life-size birds worth thousands of dollars and original, 18th-century double-elephant folio Audubons. A portion of exhibit sale proceeds benefited Preservation Dallas and the Lee Park and Arlington Hall Conservancy.
